

Nagoya University Special Funds

NU Singapore Co-Creation Project

1. Purpose of the Fund

Tokai National University Organization Nagoya University has established a base in Singapore in November 2023 based on the Global Multi-Campus Initiative, an international strategy.

With the establishment of this center, we will strengthen our ties with our strategic partner, the National University of Singapore, as well as with other educational institutions, public institutions, and private companies, and engage in a wide range of activities, including student internships, participation in entrepreneurship education programs, promotion of research exchange, and support for the global expansion of Nagoya University startups. The University is developing a wide range of activities.

Through these activities, the University aims to fulfill its role as an international center of education and research, foster human resources who will support future society, and produce innovative research results.

We would like to ask for your endorsement and exceptional support!

2. Description of the Fund

A portion of the donated funds will be administered as the Nagoya University Fund, and will be used to support the University's educational programs in collaboration with educational institutions in Singapore, as well as to support the University's activities to promote research, industry-university collaboration, and start-up businesses in Singapore.
